Dear Cartoon Network

Comic News:

I had written before but I'd like to throw in my 32 cents again to correct Jacob Gilbert (Letters Dept., Scooby #13) on the artists who drew the old Funky Phantom and Amazing Chan and The Chan Clan Comics.

Dan Spiegle didn't draw these comics (and I am sure he'd be the first to tell you). All four Amazing Chan books were drawn by Warren Tufts (creator of the old Casey Ruggles strip) who incidentally drew eight Scooby-Doo issues for Gold Key. The Funky Phantom issues were drawn by Pete Alvarado, Kay Wright (I think), Jack Manning, Roger Armstrong and Frank O'Neal (creator of the strip "Short Ribs").

Christopher Cook
Atlanta, GA

(Thanks for the information, Chris. It's much appreciated. And, of course, as most of our fans realize, that same Dan Spiegle has done several of our recent Scooby titles and Pete Alvarado has drawn several Flintstones, Quick Draw and Huck stories. We try to bring you the work of old masters as well as future ones.)

Dear Cartoon Network

Comic News:

I really like your comics, especially Scooby-Doo. I would like to see the Jetsons and Scooby-Doo gang get together for a comic book. It would be something like the Jetsons meet the Flintstones, except that the Scooby gang goes into the future. I am eleven years old and I go to school at Northwood Elementary in Seminole, OK. I like to draw Scooby-Doo and other Hanna-Barbera cartoon characters.

Grant Bivens
Seminole, OK

(Good idea, Grant. We'll see what we can do. By the way, you ought to send us some of your drawings for our Fan Art page.)

Dear Cartoon Network
Comic News:

Scooby-Doo #17 is the last of the Evanier-Spiegle issues? You can't be serious. This is the best of the three they did. But if you're still publishing Scooby upon the occasion of the series' 30th anniversary, why not bring Mark and Dan back!

Jacob Gilbert
Troy, NY

(We'll certainly keep that in mind, Jacob. By the way, please look at Christopher Cook's message a few letters back. Glad we could get you two guys together.)

Dear Cartoon Network
Comic News:

Thanks for the scuba diving in issue #16 of Scooby. How about a scuba diving team of Sealab 20-20, The Adventures of Moby Dick and rerun of The Creepy Heap from the Deep?

Dannie Gill
Winston-Salem, NC

(Face it, Dannie, you just love scuba diving! And who could blame you? Thanks for the good ideas.)

Dear Cartoon Network
Comic News:

I'm writing to ask you a big favor. I'm a big fan of The Flintstones and always will be. Ever since you came out with these comics, I've always been there to buy one. But one day, I didn't get there in time to buy the December issue. Is it possible to buy it through you?

Christina Facundo
Lockhart, TX

(Christina, we answer a question like yours almost every month. If I was you, I'd try the local comic store that stocks back issues. They might very well have one. If not, check the promotions in each of these issues. They will tell you what issues of what comics are available for purchase from these offices. Best of luck!)

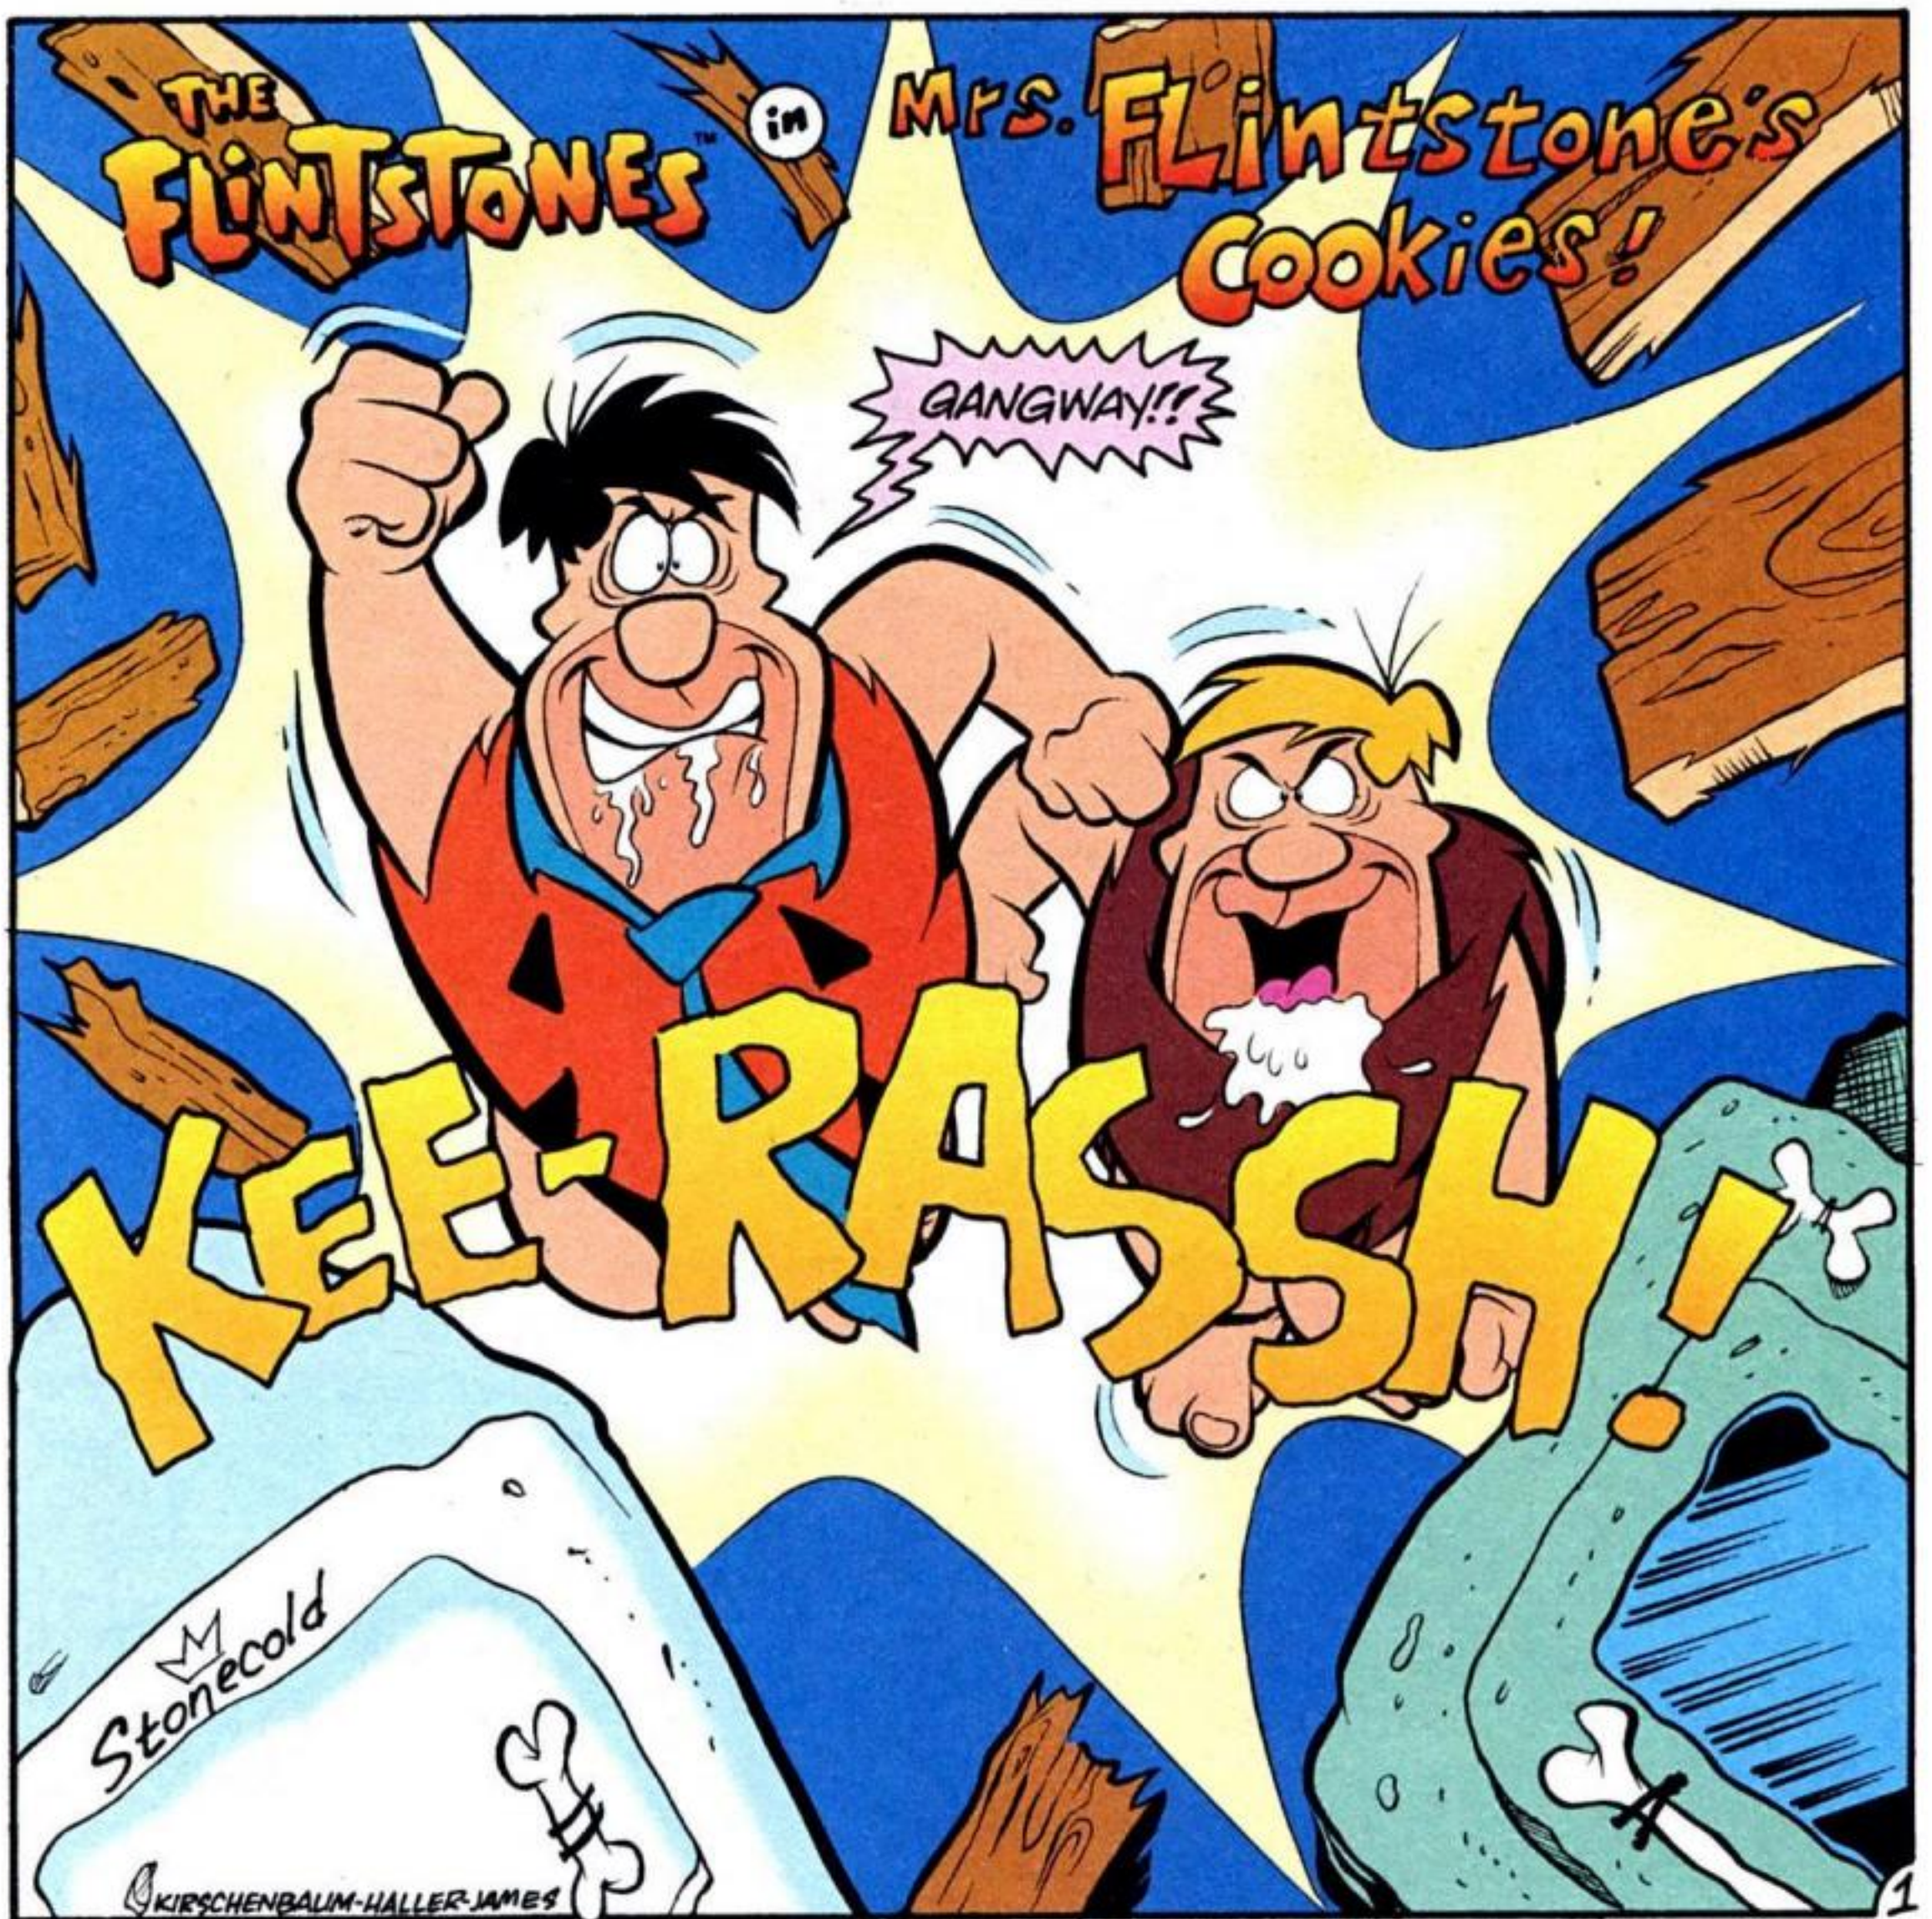

Dear Cartoon Network
Comic News:

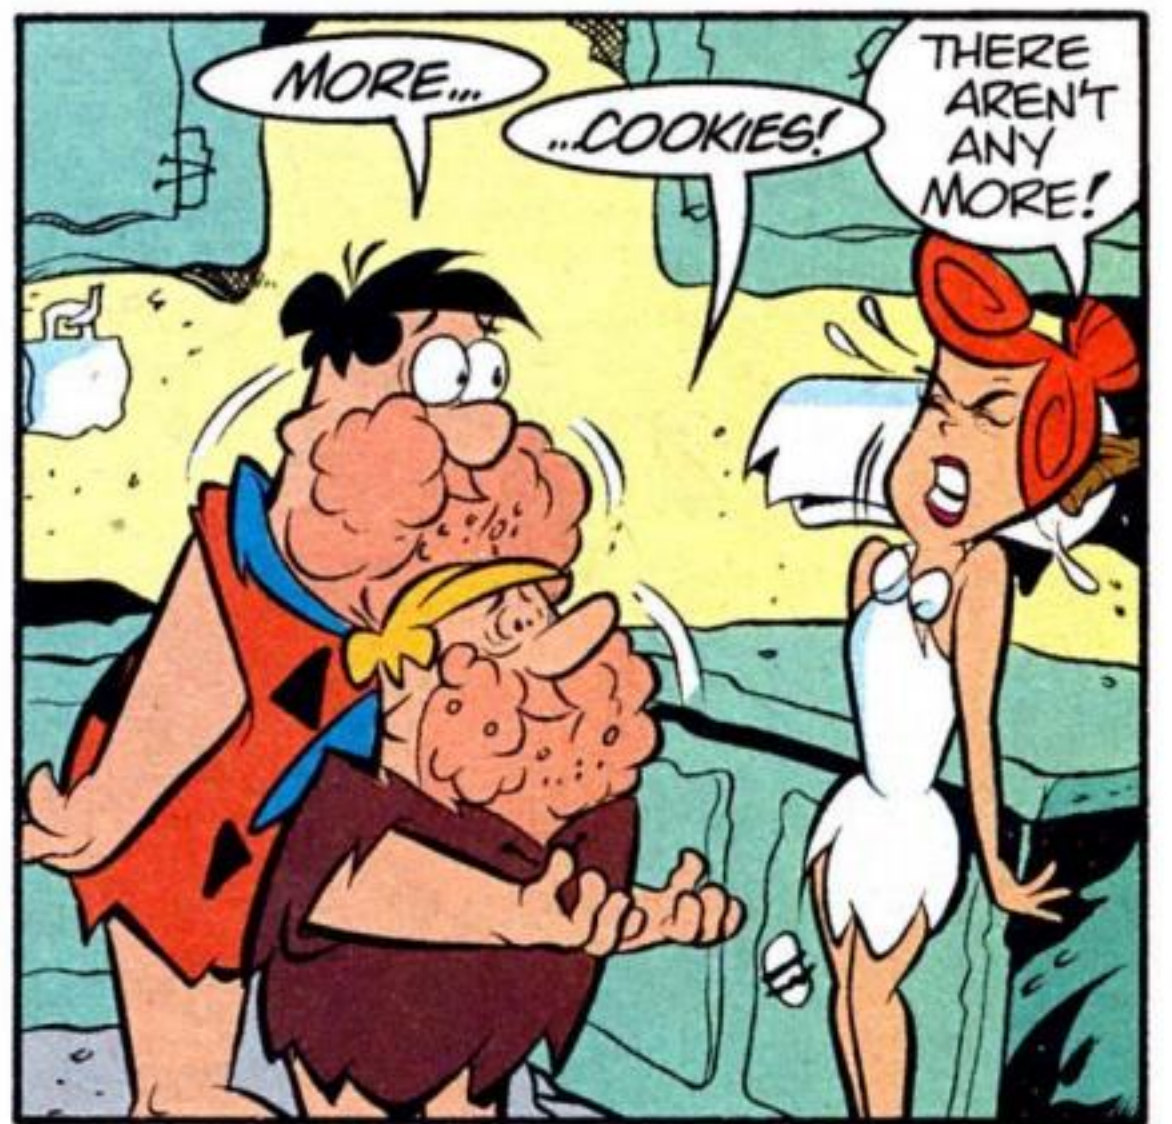

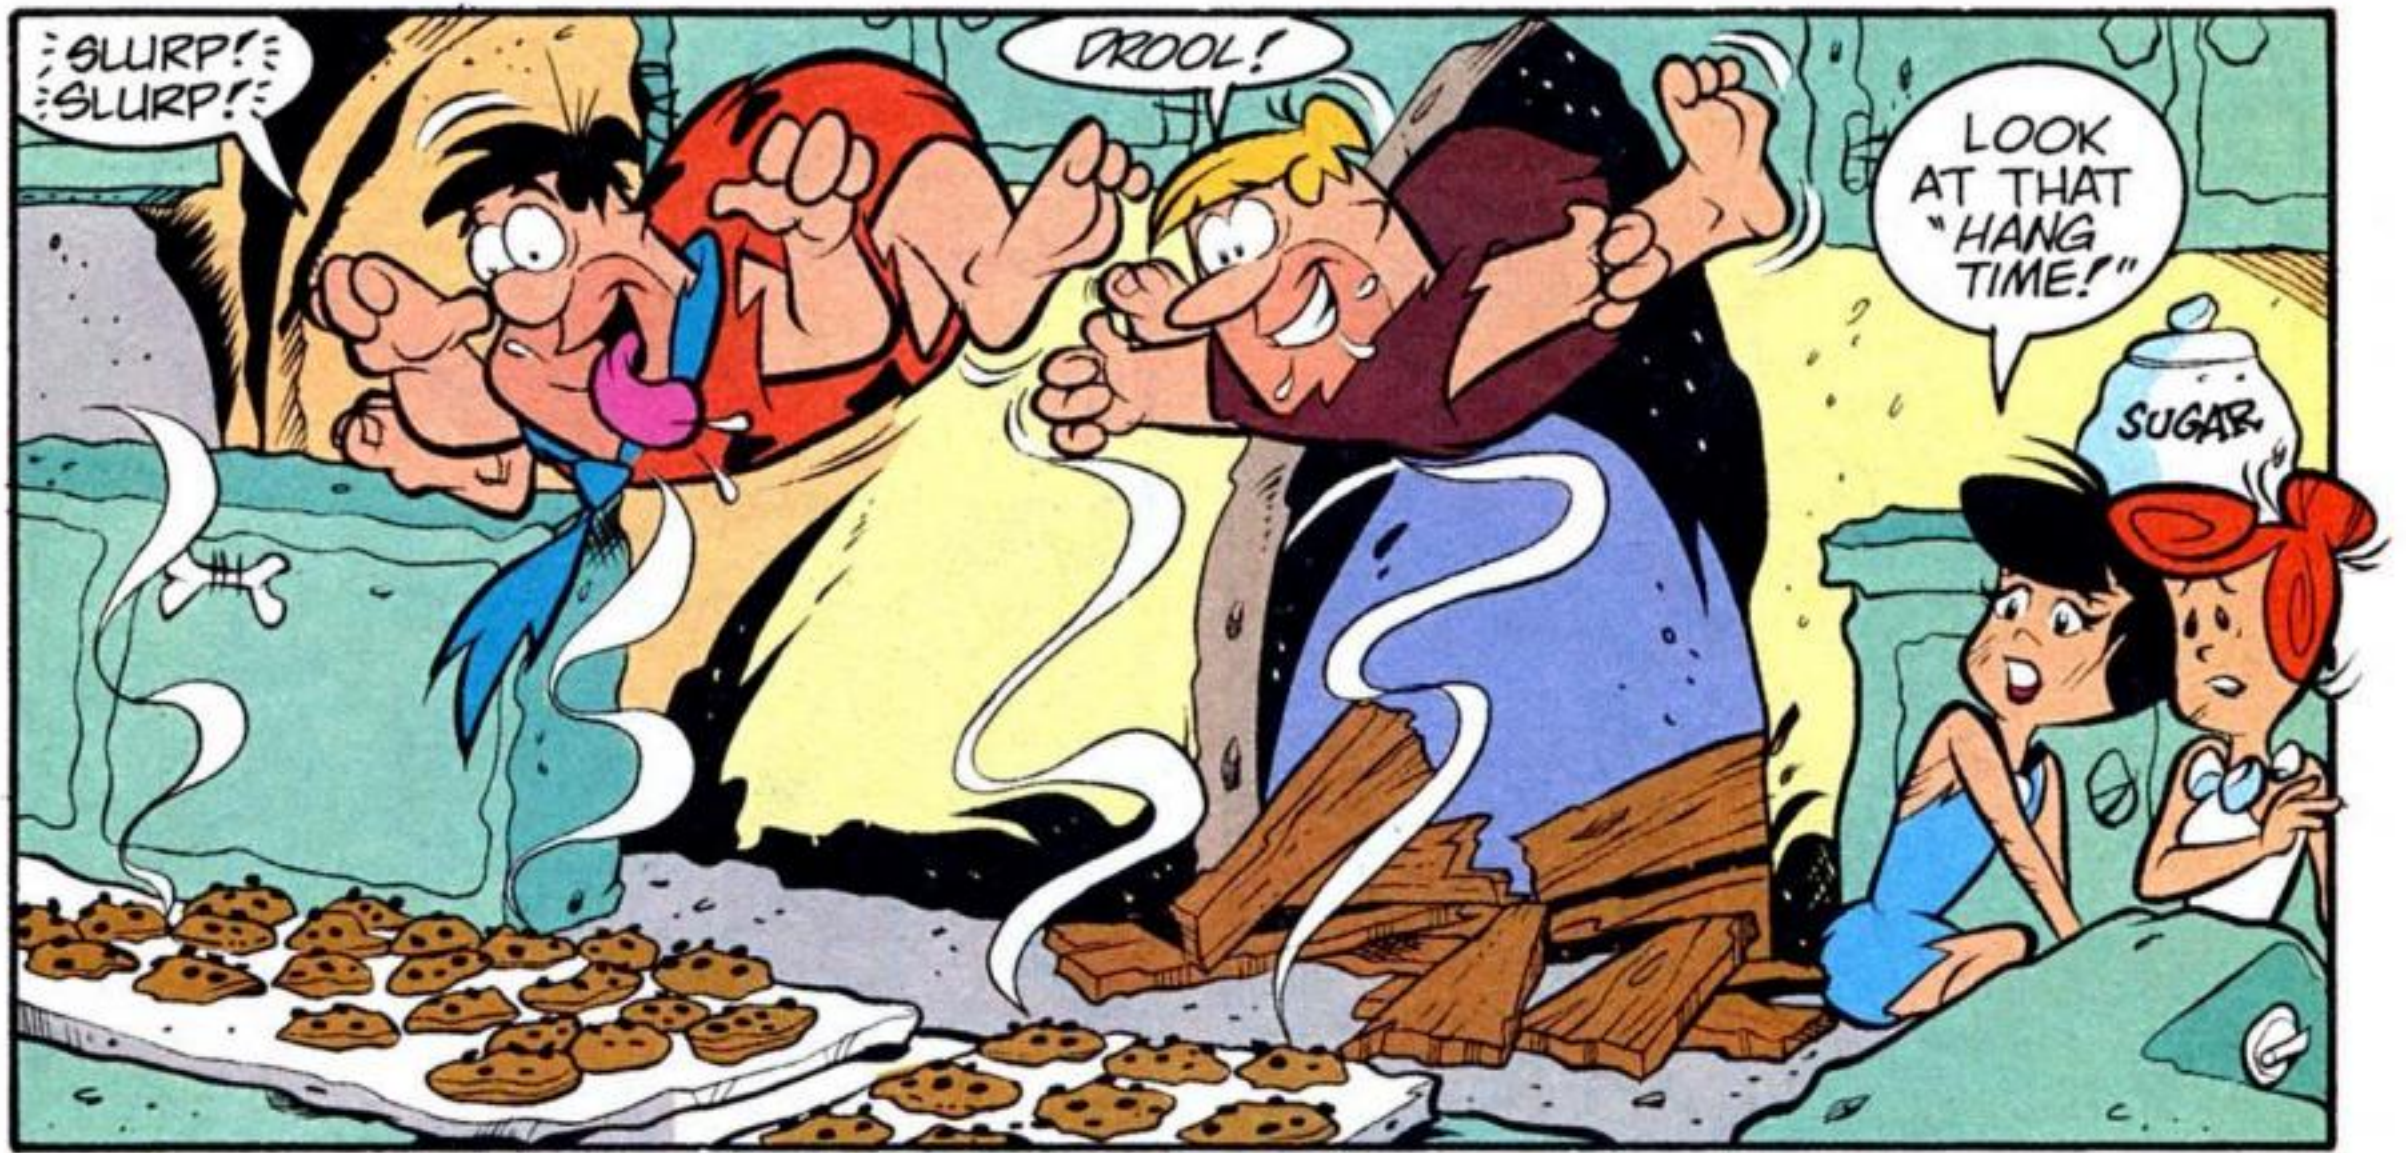

I think that you are doing a great job. All the Scooby-Doo comics are cool! But I'd like to know how I can get the upcoming issue of Space Ghost and Dino Boy.

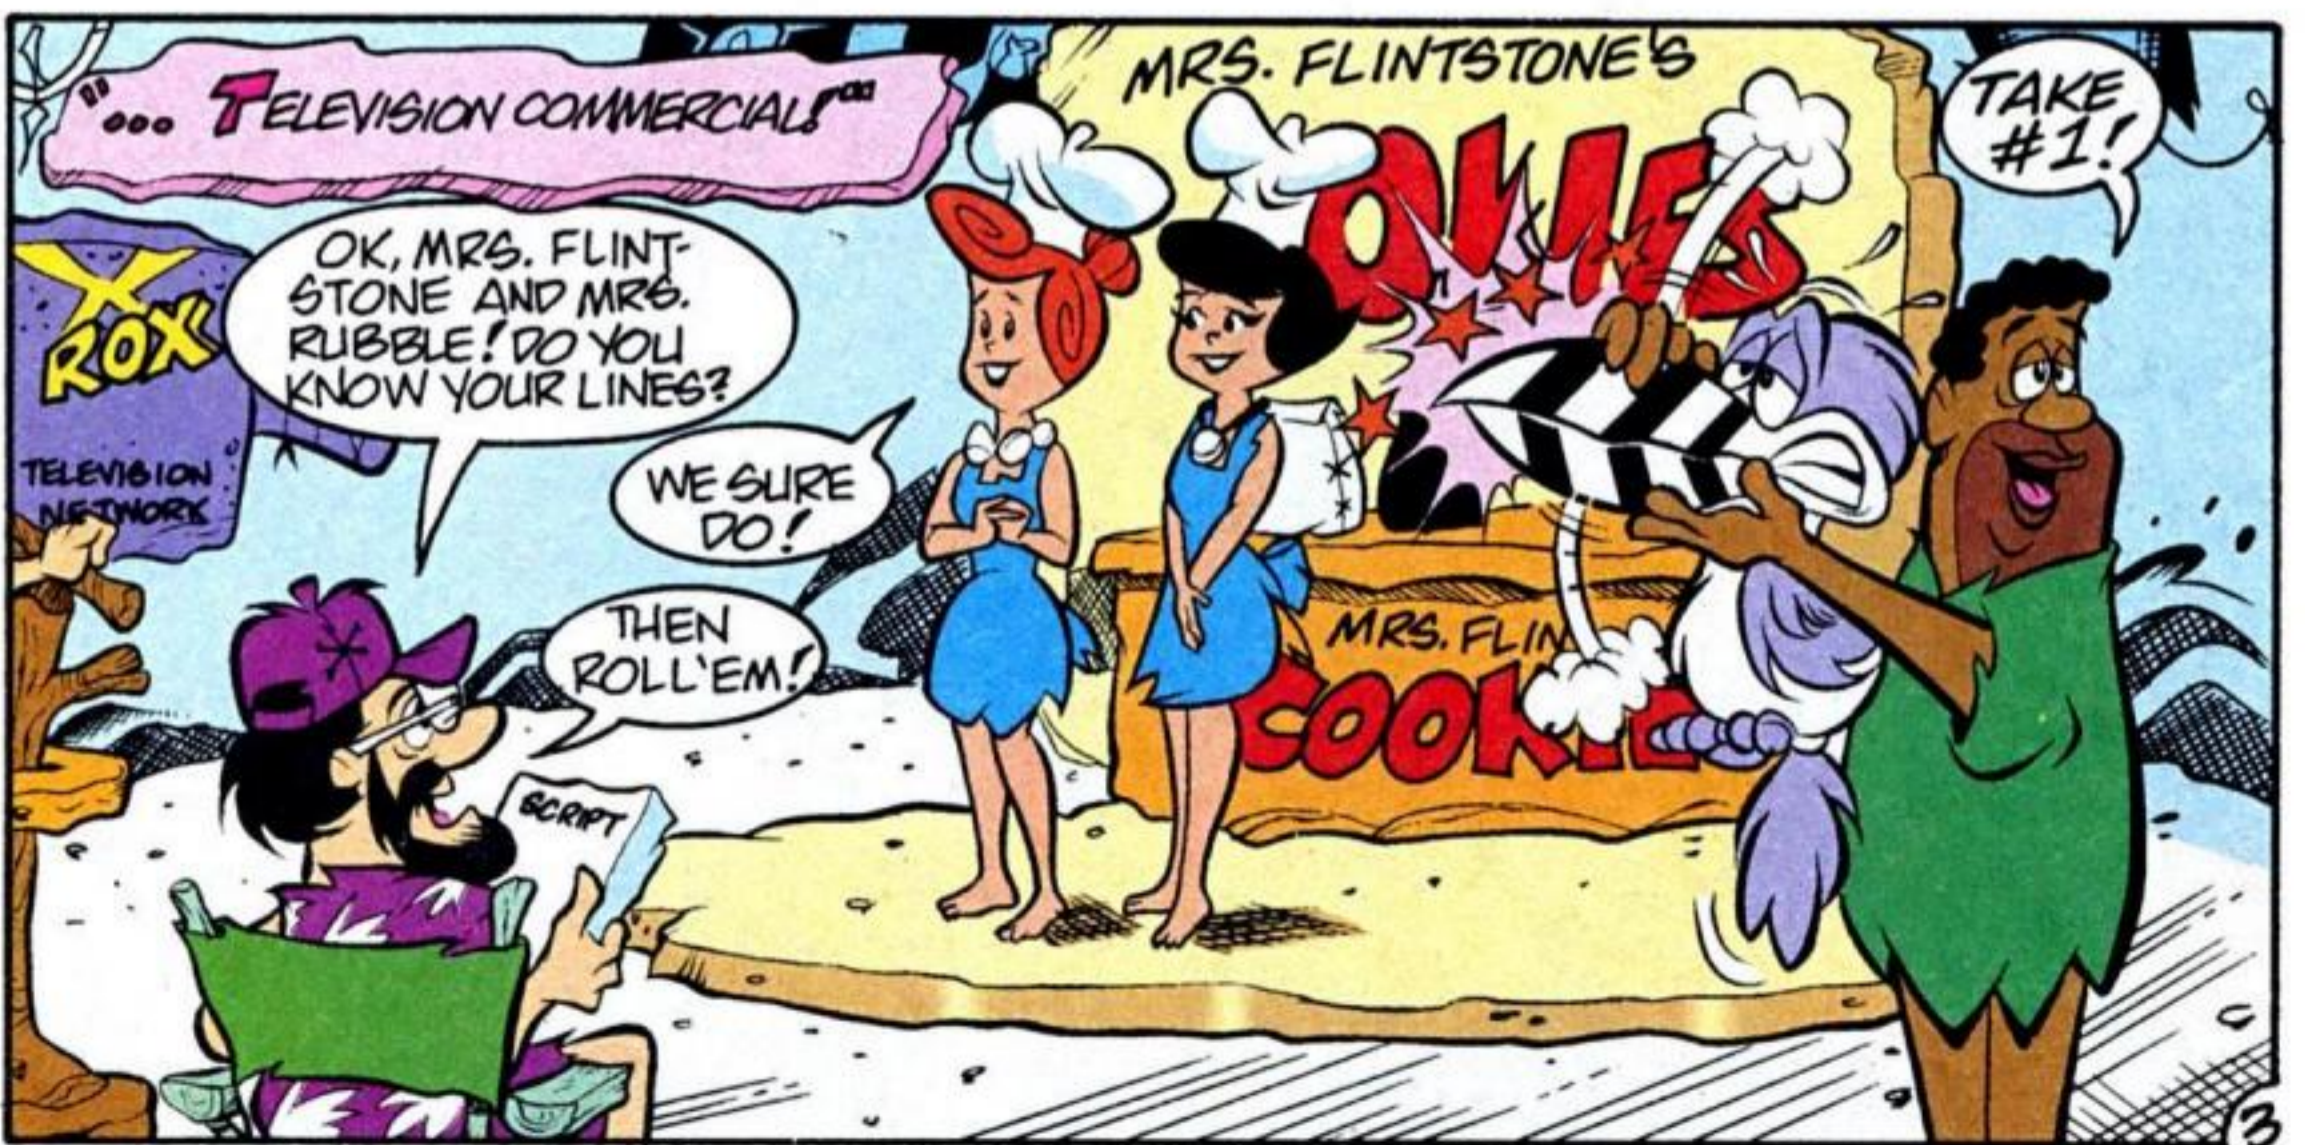

Joshua Petrey
Bay Minette, Al

(Joshua, by the time this comes out, Space Ghost should have been on the stands and, we hope, a sellout. Hope you got there in time!)
